

Glocester Heritage Society

Fall Newsletter

On September 22, 2018 the Glocester Business Association held a dedication ceremony in memory of Rose LaVoie with a stone bench placed in front of the Job Armstrong Store. The GBA and Rose's family agreed that an appropriate home for the bench was in front of the Job Armstrong Store, headquarters of the Glocester Heritage Society, especially since its location is across the street from the park dedicated to Skip LaVoie for his service to the community.

As we know, Rose was a guiding force for the GBA and the Glocester Heritage Society for many years and her influence continues. Family and friends gathered and passed along many stories of how Rose could influence people.

If you are in town, stop by the Job Armstrong Store, sit for a minute on the bench, and you can't help but think of Rose and Skip.
